AfPP Summer Residential Events
celebrating 50 years shaping the standards of care

Starting out as the National Association of Theatre Nurses in 1964, AfPP is now celebrating its 50th anniversary. We are proud to continue the legacy of Daisy Ayris MBE, our founder, who saw the merits of bringing together like minded clinicians to improve patient care and safety. Over the past 50 years, AfPP has gained a UK-wide reputation for setting and leading standards of perioperative care. We do this by supporting our members/theatre practitioners, to be the best at what they do.

At the heart of our ethos is a clear focus on patient safety and we believe that enhancing practitioners' knowledge along with awareness of best practice, standards, guidelines and key issues has a major impact on improving perioperative care.

So join us at one or both of our exciting and educational residential weekends and celebrate our 50th anniversary, where we will be ‘Looking back, moving forward’, and help shape the next 50 years!

Fantastic Agenda Planned - Different content at each event

Friday
Internal AfPP meetings & delegate registration - delegate dinner on university campus.

Saturday - BRIGHTON
Daisy Ayris Lecture; ‘Humans, Hierarchies and Hash tags’ ● Education and Role development - What have we learnt, or have we? ● Checklists and challenge: satirical actors sketch ● Siobhan Rankin lecture; The journey towards professionalisation: Exploring the perceptions and attitudes of sterile services staff ● Keynote speaker; Prof Harold Ellis.

Saturday - YORK
Daisy Ayris Lecture; 50 years of infection prevention in the operating room ● Education and Role development - Is it just the culture? ● Checklists and challenge: satirical actors sketch ● Siobhan Rankin Lecture (educational grant from Swann Morton); Compliance reporting and the WHO checklist ● Keynote speaker; Patrick Voight.
